

GOV. HODGES IS PROUD OF KANSAS

State Executive Stops Off Here For Day's Visit Because He's Rush-County's Son-in-Law.

HE WILL NOT TALK POLITICS

But the Governor is Enthusiastic About What Statewide Prohibition Has Done For His State.

Governor Hodges, the first Democratic governor elected in Kansas in thirty-five years, and the second Democratic governor ever elected in the history of the state, was a guest in Rushville last evening and today. He will depart tonight for his home.

Governor Hodges married Ora Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Murray, pioneer resident of this county. Mr. Murray was a brother of Mrs. Boone Power, 933 North Morgan street, and Mrs. John Power, deceased. This accounts for the short visit of the Governor here today.

Governor Hodges was found at the home of Boone Power buried in a big, easy chair, enjoying a cigar and chatting with his aunt and uncle. He commented on the strange recurrence of an incident in his and Mrs. Hodges' life: where a person they had known in early life suddenly crosses their path. He told a story of Harry Morgan, a Rush county boy, to illustrate.

When he was inaugurated, Governor Hodges was attracted by the bright personality and gracious manners of a young man named Morgan who was a member of Governor Stubbs' staff. The retiring staff practically had charge of the ceremonies incident to the entrance of the new governor. The Governor noted Morgan all the more because he was the escort of Mrs. Hodge during the day.

That evening when Morgan left he said to Governor Hodges that he felt there was something familiar about Mrs. Hodges, yet he could not say that he ever knew her. The Governor passed the incident without another thought.

A few weeks later Governor Hodges received a letter from Morgan asking for a place in the Governor's staff. Gov. Hodges replied that he should have it providing some Democratic applicants were not too insistent.

"Of course," Gov. Hodges commented, "I knew they would be because the positions were very desirable."

Two very prominent Kansas manufacturers and a personal friend of the Governor's applied and Governor Hodges had to refuse Morgan, yet he remembered him because of his attractive personality.

Some time later Harry Morgan was back on his native heath and he inquired of Rushville friends where Ora Murray was. He was told that she had married a Kansas lumberman and now lived in Kansas. The next day Morgan told some friends of his part in the inauguration ceremonies of Governor Hodges.

"But that was Ora Murray you were escorting," remarked some one in the crowd, and when Harry Morgan got back to Kansas he lost no time in calling at the Governor's mansion.

"And if I had known that he was a schoolmate of Mrs. Hodges," continued Gov. Hodges, "I would never have refused him the appointment on my staff even though he was a Republican."

Governor Hodges does not like to talk politics even though he is the biggest Democrat in the State. There was no third state ticket and he

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Annual Convention of Christian Missionary Society Comes to Close in Milroy.

SEVERAL ADDRESSES TODAY

Report Shows $26,258 is Raised For All Purposes by Churches in Tenth District.

The annual convention of the Christian Missionary society of the tenth district, composed of Rush, Fayette, Union and Franklin counties, came to a close in Milroy this afternoon where it has been in session since yesterday afternoon.

The first session this morning was devoted to business. It was not definitely decided where the 1914 meeting would be held, but Arlington seems to have the best chance to win the convention. It was probable that this would be decided this afternoon.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum of this city was elected president and Omer Huffard of this city was chosen vice-president. The Rev. W. H. Oldham of Milroy was elected secretary-treasurer.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, read this morning, showed that there are twenty-eight churches in the district with a membership of 5,206. The property value of the churches is $188,450 and their seating capacity, denoting their size, is 9,975.

A total of $26,258 was raised from all sources during the year by the churches of the district. Of this sum, the amount for pastoral support was $12,910. The churches raised $4,479.44 for missionary work and other benevolences. Other expenses amounted to $10,000. The Sunday schools in the district have regular attendance of 1,600. There has been a net gain in church membership of four per cent during the year.

At the closing session this afternoon. Prof. Underwood of Butler college, Indianapolis, gave an address on religious educational work. The first address of the meeting was given by Gary L. Cook of Indianapolis, secretary of the State Sunday School association, on the topic, "Graded Instruction."

The afternoon program was devoted to Sunday school work and its various phases. The Rev. I. P. Harbaugh, pastor of the Christian church, presided at this time. The Rev. J. J. Bare, pastor of the Christian church at Arlington led the praise service.

E. E. Hungerford, who has been prominent in the work of the Rush County Sunday School association, spoke on the subject, "The Sunday School in the Country." He spoke of the problems that confronted the country superintendent and suggested methods of increasing the interest and likewise the attendance. The Rev. E. W. Akeman of Brookville, the Christian pastor there, spoke on "The Sunday School in Town." The meeting was to close late this afternoon with a round table discussion of Sunday school methods.

At the Christian Endeavor session this morning, Miss Edith Brown of Connersville presided. The main address at this time was given by the Rev. W. D. Bartle, formerly pastor of the Milroy Christian church but now state secretary of the Christian Endeavor work, on the subject, "Training Christian Workers." Following a conference of C. E. Workers, the Rev. C. W. Cauble of Indianapolis, state secretary of the Christian Missionary society, gave

FOLLOWS THE I. & C. POLICY

T. H. I. & E. Traction Company Signs Agreement With Its Trainmen Calling For Arbitration.

GOVERNOR RALSTON SIGNS IT

Company Does Not Agree to Reinstate Men Who Quit Work When Strike Was Called.

An arbitration agreement that differs very little from the one drawn up by President Charles L. Henry of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company and I. & C. trainmen was entered into yesterday by the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction company and 181 of its trainmen.

About the only difference that is noted in the two agreements is the one fact that the T. H. I. & E. document does not provide for the reinstatement of trainmen who quit when the strike was called. The I. & C. agrees to take back all men discharged since the attempted unionizing of the interurban trainmen began.

The agreement, in full, is as follows:

"This agreement between the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company and its trainmen, witnesseth:

"1. That if at any time the trainmen, or any of them, have any grievances of any kind or character as to wages and conditions, they shall be presented to and taken up with the company, and if not satisfactorily adjusted within ten days thereafter, shall be referred to the public service commission of the state of Indiana for final decision. All members of the commission shall sit upon hearing and participate in decision. Said decision shall be binding on all parties for a period of three years.

"2. This agreement shall be signed by the trainmen of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company; Hon. Samuel M. Ralston, Governor of the state of Indiana, and the proper officials of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company.

"3. Said public service commission, if the matter be referred to them, shall take up and hear evidence of all parties interested in any grievances as to wages, hours and conditions of service, and render decision concerning same within a period of thirty days from the date of hearing. Said decision in effect to relate back to the date of such reference to the commission.

"4. This contract is made to avoid suspension of operation due to any labor controversies and it is agreed that strikes, lockouts and interruption of operation of any cars on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company shall not occur.

"5. The above-mentioned adjustments and arbitrations, if any, shall proceed only in the name of the complaining employee, employees, or committee thereof."

PIONEER'S WIDOW DIES.

Mrs. Lydia Mock, widow of Charles Mock, for many years a contractor and man of prominence in this city, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ada Knotts, Three Oaks, Michigan, last week. Mrs. Mock was also a daughter of the late Amon Johnson, a Rushville pioneer citizen.

Thomas A. Fletcher has filed a suit to quiet title against John Riley et al., in the circuit court. Besides Mr. Riley there are about one hundred defendants named.

MAIL WEIGHED OVER 6 TONS

Large Amount Delivered by Rural Carriers in October.

The rural route carriers out of this city have completed the count of all mail collected and delivered by them during the month of October. The count does not include parcel post packages. The routes out of here handled a large amount of mail according to the count. A total of 85,568 pieces of mail were delivered, and the weight was 13,319 pounds. The carriers collected a total of 9252 pieces weighing 471 pounds. According to the local postal authorities this is a new record for this office as compared with the count of a year ago.

MISSION WILL BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Special Services at Catholic Church and The Rev. E. J. Mullaly of Chicago Will Preach.

MISSION KIN TO A REVIVAL

A mission will be held at the St. Mary's Catholic church all next week, beginning Sunday, November 16 and closing Sunday, November 23. The lectures will be on vital religious subjects and will be given by the Rev. E. J. Mullaly, of the Paulist Fathers, Chicago. It is announced that the meetings will be devoid of sensationalism and will be plain preaching of God's word. The Rev. Mr. Mullaly has been at Greenfield recently.

The purpose of the mission is akin to the purpose of a revival except that no effort is made for converts and the personal invitation is not extended. It is the first time such a service has been held in Rushville in eight years. The mission is defined as a special course of religious exercises with particular instructions, having a three-fold aim: to strengthen the faith of loyal Catholics, to bring back the wayward and to afford intelligent non-Catholics an opportunity for learning what the church really teaches.

The services will be held each evening at seven-thirty o'clock and the general public is invited.

PLAN TO HOLD CHAUTAUQUA

Committee Appointed to Test the Sentiment at Carthage.

A chautauqua is under consideration at Carthage. At a meeting this week a committee of five was appointed to test the sentiment of the community to learn whether a chautauqua would be practical. Van Hood is chairman of the committee and the other members are the Rev. J. Edgar Williams, Mrs. Jesse Stone, Mrs. Clarkson Gause and F. F. Brenan. The committee will report at a meeting next week. The Rev. Harry G. Hill of Indianapolis attended and presented his plan for an assembly. The meeting did not feel that it was representative enough to take any definite action.

THROWN FROM WAGON.

Dr. Earl Call, of Knightstown, was called to the home of John Beason, Thursday, to attend Ben Butler of near Carthage, who was thrown from a farm wagon and struck the ground on his head and shoulder. Several stitches were required. Mr. Butler had been gathering corn and had started to another part of the field when the accident occurred.

WARNS AGAINST AN OLD TRICK

Department of Agriculture Urges Housewives to Beware of Sand-Stuffed Chickens.

OFTEN DONE BY SHIPPERS

Practice is to Feed Fowls Red Pepper to Give Them an Abnormal Appetite.

Uncovering a trick of unprincipled dealers in chickens, the department of agriculture today issued a warning to housewives to be on their guard against sand-stuffed fowls. The government experts announce that the practice of stuffing chickens with sand is one that is assuming considerable proportions. The legitimate fattening of chickens for the market is applauded, but the department frowns on the weighing of the fowls with the product of sand pits. The warning says:

"Some of these poultry shippers, a day or two before the chicken is killed, feed it red pepper, which makes the chicken have an abnormal appetite, then feed a mixture of fine sand and a little corn meal. The chicken eats this mixture ravenously and, as a result, large quantities of sand are introduced into the craw and the intestines as well.

"This addition of sand may amount in the case of a single chicken to only an ounce or two, but where thousands of chickens are sold, the aggregate charge for sand becomes important. It simply means that the dealer is selling sand to the consumer at the rate of 20 cents or more a pound."

Housewives are advised to watch closely the craws of any undressed chickens they may buy and to observe the cleaning of chickens that are being dressed by the butcher.

HELD JOINT MEETING.

The county commissioners of this county were in Shelbyville yesterday where they held a joint session with the commissioners of Shelby county. The improvement for the proposed road on the Rush-Shelby county line was discussed but no definite action was taken. Another meeting will be held soon.

HERE'S A SMART

MANUFACTURER!

After five years experiment he has evolved a certain article that he believes to be the best of its kind in the world.

He has tested it and feels sure of it, but before he spends a great sum of money he wants to feel out the public.

He has arranged for complete distribution in a group of cities near a metropolis and is going to begin a campaign of newspaper advertising in that territory.

He is going to tell the public what he has, and why it is better.

The local dealers are going to show his goods.

He is not spending a great sum of money but when he is through he will know what he can do.

Then if it is the success he anticipates, he is going to launch a co-operative newspaper campaign all over the country.

How to SELL Things That Are "FOR SALE"

Write your "For Sale" ad SIMPLY stating ever detail about the article that you would want an ad to give if you were anxious to buy something of the kind yourself. Give a little thought to the "selling points" about the article, and put THEM into your ad. Then run the ad MORE THAN ONCE, if that is necessary. It may or may not be.

COURT SCANDAL EXCITES EUROPE

Two Royal Families Involved In This Mess.

WIFE OF KING'S SON LEAVES

The Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna, Cousin of the Czar and Wife of King Gustave's Second Son, hurriedly Takes Her Departure From Stockholm Following Revelations Concerning Sale of Military Secrets.

Stockholm, Nov. 14.—Reports that Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna, first cousin of the czar and wife of Prince William, second son of King Gustave of Sweden, was concerned in the recent espionage affair which resulted in the Russian military attaché being ordered to leave the country, were revived when it became known that the marriage of Prince William and the grand duchess is likely to be dissolved.

Rumors have been current for a long time of disagreement between the couple, who were married in St. Petersburg in 1908, when the grand duchess was eighteen years of age. Her husband is twenty-nine. It is believed that the luxurious upbringing of the grand duchess and her large private fortune made the simple life of the Swedish court irksome for her, and charges of indiscretions resulting from this condition of affairs will, it is expected, be brought forth as a reason for the dissolution of the marriage. Negotiations looking to this end are now going on between the Swedish and Russian governments.

When the Swedish court charged two non-commissioned officers of the army with selling military secrets to a foreign power, it at the same time requested the Russian government to recall Captain Assanovitch, the military attaché. Russia refused to comply with this request on the ground that the evidence against him was insufficient.

Sweden hesitated about offering further evidence which the government insisted it had in its possession, and it was persistently rumored that this hesitation was due to the fact that the evidence proved the complicity of the daughter-in-law of King Gustave in the espionage and that the royal family knew of her relations with the Russian minister at Stockholm, M. Savinsky.

When Captain Assanovitch left Stockholm, M. Savinsky left also and the grand duchess departed hurriedly for France, where she is now with her father, who has a residence at Boulogne-sur-Seine. It is believed that she will not return to this court and that neither Captain Assanovitch nor the Russian minister will return to their posts here.

WOULDN'T LET HIM HAVE IT

Lipton Wanted to Give Us Washington's Ancestral Home.

London, Nov. 14.—Sir Thomas Lipton made an attempt recently to purchase Sulgrave Manor, the family home of George Washington's ancestors in England, with the intention of taking it apart and having it set up again stone by stone in the United States as his gift to America. Sir Thomas opened negotiations for the purchase of the manor and made an offer of $40,000 for the house, but the committee arranging the centennial of peace between England and the United States rejected the plan without offering an explanation.

Sulgrave Manor remains therefore in England, remote and almost inaccessible, perhaps, but on its own grounds.

WILL FURNISH A WAY OUT

Senatorial Election Muddle to Be Remedied by Congress.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Majority Leader Kern of the senate promises early action on the Poindexter bill to provide emergency machinery for putting into effect the new law for direct election of senators. Failure of congress to provide temporary methods for election and nomination of senators until the various state legislatures meet, already has caused embarrassment in Alabama and Maryland. Poindexter's bill provides that senators may be nominated and elected by popular vote in the same manner as representatives until the legislatures themselves provide a direct election system.

A Thorough Investigation.

New York, Nov. 14.—District Attorney Whitman has concluded that his investigation of campaign contributions from state highway contractors and the alleged frauds in the repairing of these highways, the two subjects overlapping each other, has reached the stage which justifies definite action toward securing indictments for conspiracy. He has accordingly engaged three expert investigators, who will follow out trails leading upstate.

Husband and Wife Sentenced.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 14.—Emil F. Wagner and his wife, Ada, pleading guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses, have been sentenced to one to eight years in the reformatory and woman's prison, respectively.

MORE LAKE VESSELS IN LIST OF MISSING

Loss of Life May Exceed Three Hundred.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14.—Loss of life and property, from constantly increasing reports, has already marked the recent storm as the most disastrous which the great lakes have ever experienced. If the men still missing shall have been lost, as it is greatly feared they have been, the death list will be well on toward if not exceeding 300. It is evident that the story of wreck and death has only been begun. Boats which were not mentioned in the earlier reports now loom up large among the missing and places no limit on the death list that can be expected.

Greatest among the tragedies was the confirmation of the loss of the steamer John A. McGean, a 432-foot freighter. Twenty-eight bodies of its crew have been washed ashore. Lying in various morgues along the Canadian shore are bodies of sailors of steamers James Carruthers, Regina, John A. McGean, Wexford and Charles S. Price. It is practically certain those vessels went down with all on board.

There are also a number of bodies of sailors of the unidentified freighter which lies bottom side up thirteen miles north of Port Huron. Many still think she is the Regina—others still cling to the theory that she collided with the Regina and the latter sank. Wreckage of the steamers Argus and Hydrus has been cast ashore. Neither of these boats has been heard from since the storm swept the lakes. The freighters Isaac M. Scott and Midland Queen are also missing.

Old Banking House Falls.

New York, Nov. 14.—H. B. Hollins & Co., one of the oldest banking houses in Wall street, has fallen without causing a ripple of excitement in the stock market or the general financial community. The liabilities of the house are between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Mutinous Patrolman Suspended.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Thirty-three patrolmen who refused to board cars manned by strikebreakers at the time of the street carmen's strike, have been suspended pending their trial on charges of insubordination and disobedience of orders.

We Buy Buggies at Jobbers' Prices and are the only dealers in Rush county that do. And we are not afraid of being successfully contradicted in this statement. There are two advantages to be gained by buying vehicles from builders of vehicles for the jobbing trade only. One of them is that you can buy them at a price that means a saving to your customer of at least 10 to 15 Dollars on a job, and another thing is you can get buggies built like you want them and like your customers want. The small dealer has to take what the small manufacturer builds for him. We have them built to suit public demand and get what the public wants. Now for instance there has been a demand for a Storm Buggy with more room and the average dealer has been unable to get it. We have the only Storm Buggy with sufficient room and we guarantee it to be three inches wider than any other Storm Buggy on the market. We have every style you want and we want you to see what we have and you will be surprised at the difference between our vehicles and the ones you have seen both in price and style and we guarantee the quality to be first class. Place your vehicle business with us and it will be taken care of to your satisfaction.

Olive Oil Emulsion (With Hypophosphites)

Is designed for the prevention as well as the relief of disease — by enabling the body to overcome the germs. It, at the same time, strengthens and tones the nerves, nourishes the blood, puts the entire system into a proper healthy condition to combat and successfully resist disease.

Every person not in perfect health has incipient germs of some distressing ailment in his or her system.

Cold weather, over-work, excesses of any kind, are liable to bring about just the conditions under which those latent disease germs will get the upper hand, and put you on your back "down sick."

You who are run-down, tired-out, nervous — You who, though not sick enough to give up, still don't feel good —

You who are apparently well, and want to stay well — Take home a bottle of Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and use it as a means to get well and keep well.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is a real nerve-food tonic.

In this it is different from most other so-called "tonics" which either have no food value and do nothing more than temporarily stimulate you, leaving you in a worse condition than before or, having food value, still

A DISASTROUS WRECK OCCURS IN ALABAMA

Crowded Excursion Train Goes Into Ditch.

Clayton, Ala., Nov. 14.—When a Central Georgia excursion train was wrecked three miles from here, perhaps a score were killed and 200 persons were injured, many seriously and at least six fatally. Fifteen bodies have been removed from the wreckage and it is thought there were several more buried in the debris.

The train was running from Ozark, bound for Eufaula, where the Barbour county fair is in progress. It was late and going at a high rate of speed. While turning a sharp curve the three rear coaches of the five-car train, all crowded to capacity, were whipped off the track and rolled down a forty-foot embankment. The wooden coaches were torn to bits and hardly a single occupant, including scores of women and children, escaped unhurt. The locomotive and the first two cars remained on the track.

J. D. Clayton, a brother of Congressman Clayton, and Sheriff Teal of Barbour county, are among the badly injured.

Clayton had few facilities for caring for the injured, most of whom were brought here, but nearly every house was turned into a temporary hospital.

A statement issued by railroad officials says a broken rail caused the accident, and that the engineer was not to blame in the matter.

Statements That May be Investigated, Testimony of Rushville Citizens.

When a Rushville citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Rushville resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Mr. Connor, 1001 North Harrison street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I had backache and pains through my loins and my kidneys were irregular in action. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them. They stopped the pains and regulated the kidney action."

MR. WILSON IS MORE HOPEFUL

Brighter View Taken of the Mexican Situation.

PRESIDENT BREAKS SILENCE

Contrary to His Custom, Mr. Wilson Permits Himself to Be Quoted on a Matter of State and Admits That There Are Present Elements in the Case Which Make It Look Very Much More Favorable.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—President Huerta's reply to John Lind's ultimatum on behalf of President Wilson demanding annulment of the recent congressional elections, expressed a willingness to enter into a consideration of means by which the end sought could be accomplished, but without committing himself on the question of compliance with the United States demand.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—As a result of conversations in Washington between Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary Bryan and between Ambassador Gerard and the foreign minister here, Germany has agreed with President Wilson that it is imperative that a man capable of restoring order and ending the chaos be placed at the head of the government in Mexico.

Germany makes no suggestion regarding a successor to General Huerta. This government is indifferent regarding who the man is to be, or how he is to be selected so long as he is satisfactory to the United States government. On the whole Germany agrees to support President Wilson's efforts to settle the situation, leaving it entirely to the United States to decide how best this can be done. The German government is, however, insistent that present conditions cannot be allowed to continue much longer.

SITUATION MORE FAVORABLE

Administration Beginning to Take Optimistic View.

Washington, Nov. 14.—New hope for a satisfactory adjustment of the Mexican situation without resort to intervention by the United States has been found by President Wilson. So substantial are the new developments regarded that President Wilson is more confident than ever that Huerta soon will be eliminated from Mexican affairs and that an entirely new government satisfactory to the United States will be created in the southern republic. The following optimistic statement of the situation was authorized by the president:

"There are elements in this case which I cannot at present discuss, but which make it look to me very much more favorable."

The president up to this time has been very guarded in regard to any statements for quotation on the Mexican situation, and this brief utterance, on this account, is regarded as having great significance.

President Wilson did not disclose the developments which have brought this renewed hope. There is good reason to believe that one of the developments which have inspired the president with confidence is flat assurances from European powers that they will support the White House in its efforts to eliminate the Mexican dictator and establish orderly, constitutional government in the southern republic.

It can be said definitely now that representatives of the European governments are advising Huerta to get out and save himself while the opportunity is open. European governments are convinced that it is only a matter of time and method before Huerta must go and are anxious that the matter be concluded as speedily as possible and that steps be taken toward restoring Mexico's prosperity.

Notwithstanding the pressure of the foreign governments, however, Huerta has given no indication that he has been moved by these representations, but on the contrary has contended that he has nothing to gain but everything to lose by withdrawing.

So far as can be learned President Wilson's optimism is not based on any intimation or sign from the Mexican dictator that he will yield. The latest understanding of Huerta's position is that he has not altered his determination in the slightest to retain his present office until the choice of his successor by the Mexican electorate. The negotiations now under way with General Carranza, chief of the Constitutionalists, necessarily play an important part in the hopefulness felt by the administration. It is known that both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan feel that justice requires that arms be given to the Constitutionalists, and there is no doubt that upon Carranza and his followers the administration is pinning its hope for a new government rising out of the chaos in Mexico.

Before pledging its support to Carranza the administration is demanding of him promises that he will do those things which the president's condemnation of Huerta make essential requirements of any government which is to receive the endorsement of the Washington administration. That is, Carranza will be required to pledge

WRECK VICTIMS CUT DOWN

Alighting From Derailed Train, Passengers Got in Freight's Path.

Wooster, O., Nov. 14.—Three persons were killed and over a score injured when passengers, frightened but uninjured, alighted from a derailed eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train and were mowed down by a west-bound freight train two miles west of here, at 7 o'clock last night.

The dead: Henry Kreakie, passenger, Shreve, O.; G. R. Calder, brakeman on passenger train, Dennison, O.; unidentified passenger mangled beyond recognition.

Thieves Carry Safe Away.

Marion, Ind., Nov. 14.—A small safe, weighing about 400 pounds, containing $300 in money, a diamond ring valued at $100 and several watches, was stolen from the restaurant of Charles Cross. The safe was put on a spring wagon and hauled away.

AFTER COUGHING TWO YEARS

Waycross, Ga., Woman Found Relief in Vinol.

Did you ever cough for a week? Then just think how distressing it must be to have a cough hang on for two years?

Mrs. D. A. McGee, Waycross, Ga., says: "I had a very heavy cold which settled into a chronic cough which kept me awake nights for fully two years, and felt tired all the time. The effect of taking your cod liver and iron remedy, Vinol, is that my cough is gone. I can now get a good night's rest and I feel much stronger in every way. I am 74 years old."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's livers aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

P. S.—If you have any skin trouble try Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Slump in New York.

A striking difference in the Progressive and Republican vote at the recent election and at the election a year ago is noted in a statement issued by the Republican organization in New York. The vote fell off two hundred thousand in spite of the fact that the Progressive nomination and the platform this year was dictated by Theodore Roosevelt.

The vote which elected Judge Werner was, according to this statement, 150,000 greater than that given Taft in this state a year ago, while the vote cast for Judge Hand was more than 200,000 votes less than Roosevelt received last year.

"The issues in the judicial campaign were clearly defined and vigorously fought," says the statement. "The Republican platform declared emphatically in favor of an untrammelled judiciary and against the recall of judicial decisions. The Progressive platform declared in favor of the recall of judicial decisions, with its constant threat to subject the courts to reversal by popular vote.

"The Republican state convention, composed of thoroughly representative men directly chosen by the enrolled Republican electors, selected Judge Werner, who had been endorsed for chief judge of the court of appeals by the State Bar Association, and the Republican state committee made the formal nomination, in accordance with the state convention's choice.

"The Progressive nomination and the Progressive platform were dictated by Theodore Roosevelt, and Roosevelt threw into the campaign all the strength of his personality. Judge Werner was made the special object of attack and misrepresentation in Roosevelt's speech at the Progressive conference in Rochester, at which Judge Hand was nominated, and again at the New York roof garden dinner just prior to his departure for South America. On both occasions he attacked Judge Werner for the opinion which he wrote in the Ives case, in which the court was unanimous in its decision against Ives."

Regulating Public Dances.

Widespread efforts are being made by social workers this fall to put public dances under better supervision. These efforts seem to be popular, as Cleveland's supervised three cent dance halls had an attendance of 175,000 dancers since they were started two years ago.

It is as natural for young folks to dance as for girls to play dolls and boys marbles. But when the only qualification for entrance to the resorts is the possession of a dime or some other coin, there needs to be an authority over them as strong as a policeman's club, and as discriminating as a woman's intuition.

Miss Jane Adams said in a recent magazine article, that the majority of Chicago dance halls are closely connected with saloons, and are largely a scheme to make a market for liquor. She had heard of girls who were held at these dances while liquor was poured down their throats. No wonder that the woman policeman is finding a job in many places with these forces of peril to be dealt with.

It would be quite a joke on Mrs. Pankhurst, now wouldn't it, if England should grant women the right of suffrage while she is out of the city.

Somehow, the more necessary a function is, the less complaint one hears about the way it is affected by the income tax. For example, teachers, ministers and newspaper reporters!

And the worst of it is, blast it all! is that folks see our mistakes while others are able to cover theirs up.

Fall Fiction.

Amusements

The Princess offers a Biograph drama "The Woman in the Ultimate" for the first picture tonight. Lillian Gish and Henry Walthall are featured and it is said to be a fine picture. The other is a Selig drama entitled "The Lonely Heart."

The Gem theater was unable to obtain the World Series picture for tonight as was previously announced and the disappointment is regretted by the management. The pictures were lost in transporting but will be shown here in the near future. The management in the place of the Worlds Series pictures has secured a two reel feature "The Oath of Conchita," a Spanish drama and "The Trail of the Serpent" for tonight.

"The Garden of Allah" will be the attraction at English's opera house, Indianapolis, the week commencing Monday, November 24. The play is a dramatization of the novel of that name by Robert Richens. Mary Anderson Navarro is a co-author of the play. As everybody knows, "Our Mary" has been from childhood a devout member of the Roman Catholic church, and it is due to her belief that Richens' great story, "The Garden of Allah," contained a powerful argument for the sacredness of monastic vows and their ringing call to the soul to leave the joys of the flesh and return to the cloistered spiritual solitude of the monastery, that after nine years of thoughtful work, "The Garden of Allah" was placed upon the stage. Mr. George C. Tyler, general manager of the Liebler company enterprises, added his entreaties for a dramatization of the novel, and finally Mr. Richens had no choice but to request Mme de Navarro to make a scenario for the play, in the writing and staging of which she has largely assisted.

As to the result—well, "The Garden of Allah" is a paradise for adherents to the Catholic faith. It breathes the atmosphere of Catholicity amid the glaring sands and purple shadows of sun-kissed Africa, and as a theological appeal it has an address on the topic, "Indiana's Opportunity."

The Rev. W. H. Oldham, pastor of the Milroy church, presided at last night's session. The devotional services were led by the Rev. Moody Edwards, pastor of the Little Flat-rock Christian church. An address was made by Motosaburo Oiewa, a native of Japan who is taking a course of training at the College of Missions, maintained by the Christian church at Indianapolis, for the purpose of returning to Japan as a missionary.

Although the Japanese young man is just learning the English language, he gave a highly inspirational address and indicated that he had a wealth of confidence in himself that he would obtain great results in the chosen line of endeavor on his return to his native land.

His appearance was followed by a sermon by the Rev. C. M. Yocum of this city, the retiring president of the tenth district missionary society. The subject of his sermon was "The Pearl of Great Price," and his text was taken from Matthew, thirteenth chapter and forty-fifth and forty-sixth verses.

The session last night was closed with an address by James Ogden, for many years a Christian missionary at Tibet. He is supported by the International Christian Missionary society. He gave a very full and complete account of the accomplishments of the missionaries in Tibet.

At the opening session yesterday afternoon, which was devoted to C. W. B. M. work, Mrs. J. D. Case of this city, district manager of this department of the church work, presided and greetings were extended to the guests by Mrs. W. H. Oldham, wife of the Milroy pastor. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. C. M. Yocum of this city and the Mission Circle girls.

This was followed by the reading of reports by the presidents of all the C. W. B. M. auxiliaries and the Mission Circle organizations in the district. The reports were all very encouraging and promised much for the future. Mrs. E. W. Taylor of Fort Wayne gave an address and the Japanese student extended greetings from Japan. Following a conference led by Mrs. O. H. Geist of Indianapolis, state president of the C. W. B. M., the session closed with the appointment of committees which reported this morning.

Read Advertisement below and note what Boxley has to say about the Pianos. Watch for mis-spelled words and gather together all Misused letters. For example if the word "Piano" is spelled "Piono" then the letter "O" is to be used in working out your answer. All misused letters when put together correctly will spell out the name of some one living in Rushville or Rush county, who owns one of Boxley's Pianos, and will also give the person's address or location and the make of Piano. Form the sentence correctly and bring it to Boxley's. First correct solution wins this week's prize.

overcame a Republican majority of 75,000 and was elected on a "dry" platform. The first Democratic governor got through on a scratch because his Republican opponent had already had two terms as governor.

"Is prohibition in Kansas a success?" was asked the Governor.

"It is the kind of prohibition in Kansas that prohibits," he replied, and Gov. Hodges is loaded with statistics to prove his contention.

"The liquor laws in our state," he continued, "are violated no more frequently than any misdemeanor statute. Kansas City, Kansas, is the only city of over 100,000 inhabitants without a saloon, a house of prostitution and accessible joint. Until ten years ago the authorities penalized the illegal places and used the money in city affairs. When they were driven out, there was great objection at first because the opponents of the plan said Kansas residents would spend a nickel and ride over to Kansas City, Mo., to buy their drinks and spend their money. But a reaction set in and you would be surprised at the improvement.

"The bank deposits increased a hundredfold. The money that went the human canal route was used to buy homes in the building and loan. Twice as many homes are owned by working men in Kansas City, Kansas, as in any other city near its size.

"We have a state law which compels every common carrier to register the liquor carried into the state. I gathered statistics from the county clerks recently and find that the people spend less than $1.25 per capita for liquor. The average spent in the United States for liquor is $30 per capita. The difference goes into the schools and other improvements. It is little wonder that Kansas is progressive. Of course, I mean progressive in the strictest sense of the word. You understand I was elected on the Democratic ticket.

"We have three billion dollars on our tax rolls and it is assessed at 70 per cent, which is higher than the average. Our per capita wealth is $1,765, while in the United States it is one-third of that. I am not a temperance crank, but I know whereof I speak. I have lived in Kansas since I was two years old and know what the condition under saloons was."

"Is the same thing reflected in the penitentiaries?"

"It is even more so," he answered. "Here is an example because I was in Colorado recently. In that state, which is just half as large as Kansas, there are 800 prisoners and in Kansas there are only 724. 159 of whom are natives of Kansas. There are 214 boys in the reformatory and 69 of them are natives of Kansas.

"The scientists say there are six kinds of alcoholic insanity. In Kansas there is one insane person in every 560 and in New York there is one insane person out of every 226. One-third of the commitments to the insane asylums in New York and Massachusetts are for alcoholic insanity. Five per cent of the commitments in Kansas are for the same thing.

"There are in the state 474 imbeciles—one out of every 3,000, and 624 paupers, one out of every 2,800. Eight-tenths of the murders in which a conviction is obtained are committed while the person is influenced by liquor. Nine out of ten who violate their parole are drunk when they do it."

The liquor question is not the only thing considered in Kansas. At the last legislature, Governor Hodges took an advanced step when he advocated the abolition of the legislature and the conferring of the law-making power in a body of twelve men or less who should be in session continuously.

Virgil B. Bodine passed his eighty-seventh birthday anniversary today, and it was a very joyful one for him as well as his friends and relatives, because Mr. Bodine is very much improved in health. His life was despaired of some time ago, but lately he has been improving rapidly and today he was able to be downstairs. A family dinner was enjoyed at the Bodine home today.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

Missionary Convention at Connersville Closed Last Night.

The convention of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church closed in Connersville last night. The officers elected were as follows: Mrs. Madison Swadener of Indianapolis, president; Mrs. E. M. Michener, Connersville, vice-president; Mrs. A. Stratford, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. B. Allgire, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. T. Brown, treasurer. Mrs. Charles Weaver, of Portland, Ore., closed the meeting with an interesting talk on her work in the slums of large cities.

DENATURED ONE NOT NEEDED.

Muncie Press: Senator Norris, of Nebraska, elected as a Republican, but a supporter of Roosevelt last year, went into Massachusetts to advocate the election of Gardner, "new Republican," who lacked quite a few thousand votes of reaching last year's Republican mark in Massachusetts. In fact it is the only state election in the country in which the Republicans failed to gain ground. It is just possible that some of the statesmen who think a denatured Republican party is what is needed are mistaken.

WILSON WEDDING CEREMONY

Historic Mansion Scene of but Twelve Ceremonies
In a Century.

WHEN Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of the president, becomes the wife of Francis Bowes Sayre on Nov. 25 she will have the distinction of being the thirteenth young woman in the history of the republic who has been wedded within the historic walls of the White House. "All the world loves a lover," and a love affair that finds its denouement behind the classic portals of the president's official residence holds an interest to the public that is quite above and beyond that of ordinary, everyday romances. In a sense the executive mansion is the people's own house, and so it naturally follows that one who is married there is in some degree the chosen child of all the great family of whom the president is the official head.

For generations the White House has been a familiar figure to the American people. It has stood a central landmark in the national capital since the time of its founding and is known the world over as the home of the chief executive of the republic. Grecian in its architecture, it stands a monument to the stern simplicity of the true ideals of the nation.

So it happens that whenever a wedding takes place within the White House the nation is prone to weave a mystical web of beauty and romance about the principals that sets theirs quite apart from other brides and pedestals them high in the court of the country's affection and regard.

Previous White House Bridals.

Prior to Miss Wilson's wedding there have been just twelve young women fortunate enough to have their weddings celebrated within the executive mansion. The last of these was Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of President Roosevelt, who was married to Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio on Feb. 17, 1906. Until then there had not been a White House wedding for nearly twenty years, the previous nuptials being those of Miss Frances Folsom, now the wife of Professor Thomas J. Preston of Princeton, to President Grover Cleveland on June 2, 1886.

The marriage of Miss Alice Roosevelt was one of the most brilliant ceremonies ever held in the White House, differing much from some of those in the last century. Some of the White House marriages have been severely simple, and the approaching wedding also will partake largely of the democratic simplicity which is the dominant note in the daily life of the bride and her family, but Miss Roosevelt's marriage, like the first held in the White House, which was in President Madison's administration, was accompanied by much display.

Early Administrations Brideless.

In the early days of the republic, when the nation's capital was located at New York and Philadelphia, there were no weddings at the executive mansion. Nellie Custis, the beautiful and charming stepdaughter of General Washington, was too young to be married during the period that he occupied the presidency, and the second president, John Adams, was unfortunate in having no young people in his household during his incumbency.

President Jefferson's administration was the first that began and ended in the White House. He was a widower,

THIRTEENTH IN WHITE HOUSE

Some Were Brilliant and

and whatever success his administration had of a social character was due to the presence of Mrs. Madison, wife of the secretary of state and the greatest social factor of Washington official life.

The election of James Madison brought this most popular of American women to the highest social position in the republic.

There were two weddings in the White House while she was its mistress, and she took as much delight in making them happy occasions as though both brides had been her own children. The first wedding to occur in the president's house was that of the widow of a nephew of George Washington, Lucy Payne, Mrs. Madison's younger sister, who was married at the age of fifteen, in 1792, to George Steptoe Washington, and lived during her widowhood with the Madisons in Washington.

Payne-Todd Wedding.

The engagement of this sister in the winter of 1810 to Justice Todd of the supreme court, a widower, many years older than herself, the father of five children and a resident of the then far distant state of Kentucky, was approved by her family, and Mrs. Madison reveled in the preparations for the fine wedding she gave the couple. It was celebrated on the evening of March 11, 1811.

The second White House wedding took place after the war of 1812 was ended. The bride was a relative of Mrs. Madison by marriage, Miss Anna Todd of Philadelphia, and the bridegroom was a member of congress from Virginia, John G. Jackson, a great-uncle of "Stonewall" Jackson.

The third wedding was that of Miss Marie Monroe to Lawrence Gouverneur. Being the daughter of a president, it might have been expected that the occasion of her wedding would have been marked by great festivity. But such was not the case, and the affair was a distinct disappointment to those who thought they had a right to expect more from the White House family.

Monroe Marriage Simple.

Mrs. Monroe was a city bred woman. She had been brought up in the exclusive circle of New York, and she did not approve of the Virginia style. So the wedding of her youngest daughter was the reverse of a grand affair.

The circular or blue room was chosen for the wedding, and the Rev. Dr. Hawley of St. John's church performed the ceremony, which took place at noon.

The fourth marriage celebrated in the president's house was that of John Adams, the son and private secretary of President John Quincy Adams. He was married to his cousin, Helen Jackson of Philadelphia. Miss Jackson was a niece of Mrs. Adams, and her brother, Walter Jackson, was a secretary to the president and lived in the White House.

It was an evening affair, and the ceremony was performed Feb. 10, 1828, in the blue room in the presence of a distinguished gathering. Dr. Hawley officiated on this occasion as he had done at Miss Monroe's wedding, and the president and Mrs. Adams, though it was known that they did not wholly approve of the match, made the wedding a notably gay one.

The Jackson Administration.

Andrew Jackson's administration succeeded that of John Quincy Adams, and it is recalled as one during which there were three weddings.

The fifth marriage in White House history was that of Miss Delia Lewis of Nashville, Tenn., whose father, William B. Lewis, was one of President Jackson's most intimate personal friends. He practically lived in the president's house and was a member of that famous kitchen cabinet caricatured so persistently in that day.

Miss Lewis was married to Mr. Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot, a native of Martinique, who was secretary of the French legation at the time of his marriage.

President Jackson was intensely fond of his wife's relatives and, being a childless widower and having not a relative in the world of his own, gathered about him many young people, among whom were several of Mrs. Jackson's nieces.

Mary Easton, a Tennessee girl, was one of these nieces, and when she was married to Lucien B. Polk of Tennessee the president arranged to have the ceremony take place in the Blue room.

Another White House marriage that occurred during President Jackson's administration was that of Miss Emily Martin, a niece of Mrs. Donelson, who

MRS. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH became the bride of Lewis Randolph, a grandson of Jefferson.

Tyler-Waller Marriage.

The eighth wedding to occur in the White House was that of Miss Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of the president of that name, to William Waller of Virginia, the bride being but nineteen years of age, on Jan. 31, 1842.

The next wedding, the ninth to occur in the White House, did not take place until the Grant administration, when the general's beautiful daughter, Ellen, or Nellie, as she is better known, became the bride of Mr. Algernon Sartoris. The ceremony, which was without doubt the most brilliant function held at the White House during her father's tenure there, has become a recollection to which all who witnessed it delight to revert.

It was the first wedding to be celebrated in the east room and took place on May 21, 1874, or nearly thirty years after the Tyler wedding.

The Tenth Bridal.

The tenth White House wedding was that of Miss Emily Platt, niece of President Hayes, who was married to General Russell Hastings on June 19, 1878. The bride had been to the president and Mrs. Hayes as a daughter, and she had lived in their home for many years, going to the White House with them from Ohio.

When next the blue room was decorated for a marriage ceremony the wedding was that of President Cleveland, the first president to be married in the White House.

Miss Frances Folsom, the bride, was twenty and was noted as being graceful and winsome. Her engagement to the president was made in the summer of 1885. Soon after she went to Europe with her mother and remained there until a few days before her wedding. That occurred on the evening of June 2, 1886, at 7 o'clock, in the blue room.

Roosevelt-Longworth Nuptials.

The wedding of Miss Alice Roosevelt to the then Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio in 1906 is of too recent date to need more than passing mention. It was the twelfth of the series and was by far the most brilliant ceremony ever held in the White House, with the single exception, perhaps, of that of President Cleveland and Miss Folsom. It took place in the east room, where the coming nuptials of Miss Wilson and Mr. Sayre are to take place.

Yet while Miss Jessie Wilson will

WHITE HOUSE WEDDINGS.

Twelve weddings have been held in the White House in the history of the United States. The marriage of Miss Jessie Wilson will be the thirteenth. The twelve are:
1811—Lucy Payne Washington to Judge Todd.
1812—Anna Todd to Representative John G. Jackson.
1820—Marie Monroe to Lawrence Gouverneur.
1828—Helen Jackson to John Adams.
1829-37—Delia Lewis to Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot; Mary Easton to Lucien B. Polk; Emily Martin to Lewis Randolph.
1842—Elizabeth Tyler to William Waller.
1874—Nellie Grant to Algernon Charles Frederick Sartoris.
1878—Emily Platt to General Russell Hastings.
1886—Frances Folsom to President Cleveland.
1906—Alice Roosevelt to Representative Nicholas Longworth.

have the distinction of being the thirteenth young woman to become a bride in the White House, as mentioned at the beginning of this article, it is by no means certain that hers will be the only wedding ceremony to be held there during her father's administration. The president has two other daughters, who vie with their sister in charm and attractiveness, and it is by no means impossible that the names of one or both of these may yet be added to the distinguished list of White House brides.

PACIFIC OCEAN TRAFFIC WITH THE UNITED STATES.

One-fourth of Total Trade Supplied by Uncle Sam.

About one-fourth of the total trade of all countries fronting on the Pacific ocean is supplied by the United States, according to figures just produced by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Into these ports $2,333,000,000 worth of imports entered in 1912, according to the figures, and their exports aggregated another $2,000,000,000. Of the total imports about one-half represents eastern Asia, a little less than one-fourth western America and the remainder the countries and islands of the south Pacific.

The imports of China are approximately $350,000,000, Japan about $300,000,000, Straits Settlements $200,000,000, Hongkong $200,000,000 and Siam, French Indo-China, Chosen (Korea) and Asiatic Russia about $100,000,000. Those of western South America are about $200,000,000, western North America (including $125,000,000 at the Pacific ports of the United States) $200,000,000, Australia $375,000,000, New Zealand $100,000,000, Dutch East Indies $150,000,000, Philippine Islands $55,000,000 and the Hawaiian Islands $34,000,000.

Of the imports of these Pacific frontages other than those of the United States this country supplies about 12 per cent, the United Kingdom about 25 per cent, continental Europe about 15 per cent and India about 10 per cent, the remainder being chiefly exchanges among the countries forming the group under consideration.

NEW TARIFF LAW'S EFFECT.

Treasury Statement Finds but Little Decrease In Duties Collected.

Although the new tariff act, with its lowered rates of duty, has been in effect over a month, the customs receipts have shown little falling off.

A treasury statement made a few days ago shows that the customs receipts for October amounted to $30,138,000, about $80,000 less than those of October, 1912.

The deficit for the fiscal year to date, the statement shows, is $5,757,627, about $3,900,000 more than at the corresponding period last year.

Pension payments under the Sherwood act are apparently largely responsible for the larger deficiency. In 1912 the October payments amounted to about $52,500,000, and for the same period this year nearly $57,000,000.

The total pay warrants for October, 1913, were $59,366,994, with total receipts of $64,196,633. The net balance in the general fund of the treasury on Nov. 1 was $124,923,123. In national bank deposits to the credit of the United States treasurer there was $91,121,101.

$36,394,000 FOR THE CANAL.

This Sum Is Needed to Complete the Panama Waterway.

According to advices from Washington, James C. Courts, clerk of the house appropriations committee, after consultation with Colonel George W. Goethals, has reached the conclusion that the completion of the Panama canal will require an additional appropriation of $36,394,000. This amount will be expended largely on the canal terminals. Concrete coal pockets for storing bituminous coal, machine shops and a drydock are to be constructed on the Pacific end of the canal.

AMAZONS UNDER FIRE IN MEXICO

Women Fighting on Both Sides
Across Rio Grande.

AID ARMIES AS FORAGERS.

Wife of Federal Officer Leads Rebels Into Ambush and Then Escapes In Rain of Bullets—Wealthy Young Woman Takes Her Dead Brother's Place In Constitutionalist Ranks.

Women of Mexico are playing a prominent part in the warfare of the southern republic as "soldaderas," foraging successfully for their men folk in the armies and occasionally being actual fighters, according to correspondence from Del Rio, Tex.

This is true probably because the present revolution has touched individuals and homes more intimately than any other conflict of recent times in Mexico. Many women have left their homes rather than remain alone, and a few of them have gone under fire to get revenge.

Girl Replaces Brother.

In the siege of the large city of Monterey a valued member of General Pablo Gonzales' Constitutionalist command was Senorita Maria Sanchez, said to be a wealthy Castilian, whose brother was shot by federal irregulars. She gave up the comforts of a luxurious home and begged permission to replace her brother.

Recently at Monclova a son of Senora Pimental of that city had been sentenced to be shot. The mother, it is said, entered the federal jail by stealth and, stabbing two guards, released her boy, and both escaped to the Constitutionalist headquarters at Hermanos.

In the federal ranks there is told the story of the wife of an officer who led the Constitutionlists into an ambush at Puerta Carmen and, though fired upon by the angered rebels, galloped through the lines to her husband's side.

When less than a month ago the federal army of General Maas occupied the Constitutionlists' provisional capital at Piedras Negras "soldaderas" played an important part in the bloodless capture.

Women Guard Wagon Train.

A small group of them pitched their tents on the overlooking hills two days before the soldiers arrived. When the army came fully 500 of these soldier-women accompanied the troops, most of them guarding the wagon train which their skill as foragers had supplied. After the city was occupied the women spread food for the entire army in the plaza. These "soldaderas" are expert with both knife and rifle.

One of the famous women fighters is Mrs. Alonzo Alanis, who recently surrendered to the Huerta garrison in Juarez and was pardoned. She is the wife of a former Maderist commander and became a leader during the revolt against Madero.

We are to have a demonstration, here at my place with the Spaulding Deep Tilling Machine Saturday, Nov. 15, and want everyone who would be interested to come and see it work. This machine breaks the ground 16 inches wide and 16 inches deep, and pulverizes the ground thoroughly by using 3 or 4 horses. Farmers who have been using these plows report an increase of 20 to 30 and as high as 50% in crops. Come and see it work and be your own judge of its merits.

Demonstration will take place at farm of E. B. Lee, east of John F. Boyd's Dairy Farm in Circleville.

ELECTION FRAUD OPENLY CHARGED

Candidate Says Voting Machines Were Tampered With.

A RECOUNT AT INDIANAPOLIS

Alleging That Not Only Were Voting Machines Defective, but That Many of Them Were Tampered With and That Frauds Were Committed in the Count, Progressive Nominee For Mayor Secures Recount Order.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—The votes cast for mayor of Indianapolis will be recounted on November 24, under order of Judge Remster of the circuit court, who has granted a petition for a recount filed by Dr. William H. Johnson, the Progressive candidate for mayor. Dr. Johnson alleges that he desires a recount of the votes cast for mayor because he is informed, and honestly believes, that many of the voting machines used were defective; that many of the machines were tampered with illegally; that he believes mistakes were made in all precincts when the votes were counted, and that he believes fraud was committed in the official count of the votes.

The purpose of Dr. Johnson's suit is to determine whether Charles A. Bookwalter, the Republican nominee for mayor, who won second place by 94 votes, is really entitled to second place. Many bets were made that Johnson would get more votes than Bookwalter, and these bets are being held up until the recount settles the dispute.

The voting machines have been returned to the basement of the courthouse. Following the taking of the totals from the machines, each inspector sealed and locked the machine which he had in charge. Then the keys were turned over to the board of election commissioners.

That there has been practically no opportunity for any person to tamper with the machines after they were sealed and locked is the belief of W. W. Spencer, Democratic member of the board of election commissioners. Mr. Spencer said after the seal had been placed on the machine nothing could be done to change the figures recorded unless the seal were broken. If any seals are broken that fact will be noticed first by the men appointed to make the recount, as it will be their duty to break these seals and unlock the machines. Broken seals, if any are found, will be regarded as evidence of fraud, to be considered in the hearing of the suit.

Will Recount Lafayette Ballots.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 14.—Judge DeHart has appointed three commissioners who will recount the ballots cast for mayor and city clerk in the recent city election. Mayor George R. Duran, Democratic candidate for mayor, according to the returns was defeated by Thomas Bauer, Citizens' candidate for mayor, by a majority of sixteen votes. The two candidates for city clerk, according to the returns, received exactly the same number of votes.

DIDN'T BELIEVE THE ALIBI

Jury Convicts William S. Circle of Mrs. Brown's Murder.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 14.—Murder in the second degree and the punishment fixed at imprisonment for life was the verdict of the jury in the case of William S. Circle, charged with the murder of Mrs. Ida May Brown at Winchester the night of last July 10. Circle's defense was an attempt to establish an alibi. The fact that no witness, excepting John Davison, who was with Mrs. Brown when she was shot and killed, testified that Circle fired the shot, was played on by the attorneys for the defense. The jury evidently credited the theory of the state that Circle killed the woman because of jealousy and that he tried to kill Davison, a bullet fired at him striking his watch and preventing injury.

The wife and son of Circle testified that he was at home at the hour the woman was killed, but the story that Circle had met Davison and Mrs. Brown when they were walking and had fired on them could not be shaken.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Fred Powers, a fifteen-year-old boy, who shot and wounded William Samones, his stepfather, when Samones, it is alleged, was beating the boy's mother, was acquitted of the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, by Judge Taylor in juvenile court. The court said the boy acted in the defense of his mother and himself.

himself to observe all the provisions of the Mexican constitution.

The belief in Washington is that Carranza has given his pledge to these requirements as a condition of receiving the support of Washington in his campaign against President Huerta. It is the impression here also that Carranza has replied in such a way as greatly to encourage President Wilson in the hope that the Constitutionalist leader offers the means of adjusting the situation in Mexico without involving the United States in a conflict of force.

THE SUNSET ROUTE INVOLVED IN STRIKE

Trainmen All Along the Line Quit Work.

New Orleans, Nov. 14.—The 1,200 local employees of the eastern division of the Southern Pacific railroad, with a thousand strikebreakers in the city and ready to take their places, quit their jobs promptly at 7 o'clock last night. Reports received here from Houston, San Antonio and a number of other points on the division indicated that the stoppage of work was general all along the lines of the Sunset route. Between 3,000 and 4,000 engineers, conductors, firemen and trainmen are affected. The outlook here is very serious. The men left their work quietly. In many cases trains were left standing wherever they were at 7 o'clock, the hour of the strike, although there were instances where the locomotives were taken on to the roundhouses.

CARRANZA ASKS PRESIDENT'S AID

Officially Requests Right to Import Arms Freely.

WOULD SOLVE PROBLEM.

Mexican Rebel Leader Transmits Statement to United States Government Through Dr. H. A. Tupper of the International Peace Forum—Captain Julio Madero's Mission.

By according the Mexican Constitutionalists the right to import arms freely from the United States President Wilson can readily solve the problems that now confront the government in that country.

Such at least is the substance of an official statement from General Venustiano Carranza, head of the rebel army, just transmitted to the government authorities at Washington by Dr. Henry Allen Tupper of the international peace forum.

The struggle in Mexico will continue until one side or the other is beaten into helplessness, the statement asserts. It further declares that the Constitutionalists are confident of wiping out Huerta and his partisans in a short time if the embargo on arms is lifted.

The statement which follows close on the heels of the arrival in Washington of Captain Julio Madero, an officer of General Carranza's staff, is regarded as important in official circles. It may even prove to be the lever by which Huerta may be pried from his loosening grip on Mexican affairs, in the opinion of many who are in close touch with developments across the Rio Grande.

Captain Julio Madero, who is a brother of Francisco I. Madero, the late president of Mexico, is co-operating with Roberto V. Pesqueiro in presenting to Secretary of State Bryan a statement of the purposes of the Mexican Constitutionalists and of the policies that will be pursued by them in case they succeed in overthrowing the dictatorship of General Huerta.

Captain Madero, who was educated in the United States, accompanied General Carranza on his 3,000 mile tour of inspection through the northern states, starting from Piedras Negras and passing through Coahuila, Durango, Chihuahua, Sinaloa and Sonora to Hermosillo.

Fifty Thousand Men Under Arms. "During our tour," said Captain Madero soon after his arrival in Washington, "we inspected no fewer than 35,000 men in arms. We estimate that the Constitutional force in the northern states—that is, men actually armed and in the field—is upward of 50,000. All that is needed to give us an army of twice the size is opportunity to obtain arms.

"The forces now in the field in the entire country in opposition to the Huerta government must aggregate at least 100,000 men. We are constantly receiving requests for arms. Given the opportunity to purchase such supplies as we need in the United States, and the Mexican problem will soon be solved by us."

Neither Mr. Pesqueiro nor Captain Madero would permit himself to be quoted concerning the purpose of his mission to Washington. That the statement both bring for the information of President Wilson is in the nature of a pledge by General Carranza that his only aim is to re-establish true constitutional government and to cure the evils of the land system, which are the basic causes of unrest, is known.

That they will make a strong plea for the lifting of the embargo which prevents the export of arms and ammunition from the United States is certain, even if the official statement from General Carranza just transmitted by Dr. Tupper to the state department did not urge this course. The military outlook, as they see it, could not be more favorable to their cause.

The Military Situation.

They have prepared a complete statement of the military situation, setting forth in detail the strength of the various commands directly reporting to General Carranza as "first chief," the territory under Constitutional control, the weakness of the Huerta government even in the vicinity of Mexico City, the railway situation in the republic and other facts they believe to be of importance to President Wilson.

The Constitutionalists assert that they are in possession of more than three-quarters of the territory of the republic of Mexico and that there is not a single state where Huerta has absolute control.

They declare they are in control of practically the whole of the country from the Texas border to the twenty-second parallel. In addition, the Constitutionalists assert that the rebels in practical control of the states southwest of Mexico City and those in control of Tabasco, Campeche and Yucatan are affiliated with the anti-Huerta movement at the north.

They concede to Huerta the greater part of the states of Mexico, Hidalgo, Queretaro and Puebla and the control of the railways from the capital city to Vera Cruz, but say his authority is disputed even in the territory immediately contiguous to Mexico City.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Burglary at Gilder's.

THE entrance of the butler brought the inspector's thoughts back to the matter in hand.

"My man," he said authoritatively, "I want you to go up to the roof and open the scuttle. You'll find some men waiting up there. Bring 'em down here. They're police officers. You get 'em down here, and then you go to bed and stay there till morning. Understand?"

The butler looked at his master for guidance. Receiving a nod, he said:

"Very well, sir."

"How do you know they're going to break into the house tonight?" Gilder demanded of Burke, "or do you only think they're going to break into the house?"

"I know they are. I fixed it."

"You did?"

"Sure; did it through a stool pigeon."

"Oh, an informer!" Gilder interrupted, a little doubtfully.

"Yes," Burke agreed; "stool pigeon is the police name for him. Really, he's the vilest thing that crawls."

"But if you think that," Gilder expostulated, "why do you have anything to do with that sort of person?"

"Because it's good business," the inspector replied. "We know he's a spy and a traitor and that every time he comes near us we ought to use a disinfectant. But we deal with him just the same because we have to. Now, the stool pigeon in this trick is a swell English crook. He went to Garson yesterday with a scheme to rob your house. He tried out Mary Turner, too, but she told Garson to leave it alone. But he met Griggs afterward and agreed to pull it off. Griggs got word to me that it's coming off tonight, and so, you see, Mr. Gilder, that's how I know."

"I see," Gilder admitted without any enthusiasm. "But why do you have your men come down over the roof?"

"It wasn't safe to bring them in the front way. It's a cinch the house is being watched. I wish you would let me have your latch key. I want to come back and make this collar myself."

"But why not stay, now that you are here?"

"Suppose some of them saw me come in? There wouldn't be anything doing until after they saw me go out again."

The hall door opened, and the butler re-entered the room. Behind him came Cassidy and two other detectives in plain clothes. At a word from his master the disturbed Thomas withdrew.

"Now," Burke went on briskly as the door closed behind the servant, "where could these men stay out of sight until they're needed?"

There followed a little discussion which ended in the selection of a storeroom at the end of the passage on the ground floor.

"And now, Mr. Gilder," the inspector said energetically, "I'm going to give you the same tip I gave your man. Go to bed and stay there."

"But the boy," Gilder protested. "What about him? He's the one thing of importance to me."

"If he says anything more about going to Chicago just you let him go, that's all! It's the best place for him for the next few days."

"You're in charge here," Burke said to Cassidy, "and I hold you responsible. I'm coming back to get this bunch myself, and I'll call you when you're wanted. You'll wait in the storeroom out there and don't make a move till you hear from me, unless by any chance things go wrong and you get a call from Griggs. He's got a whistle, and he'll use it if necessary. Got that straight?" Cassidy declared an entire understanding of the directions.

As the men left the room Burke turned again to Gilder.

"Just one thing more," he said. "After I've gone I want you to stay up for a half hour anyhow, with the lights burning. Do you see? I want to be sure to give the Turner woman time to get here while that gang is at work."

Gilder scrupulously followed the directions of the police inspector. Unhappily he had remained in the library until the allotted time was elapsed. He fidgeted from place to place, his mind heavy with distress under the shadow that threatened to blight the life of his cherished son. Finally, with a sense of relief he put out the lights and went to his chamber.

His thoughts were most with his son, and ever as he thought of Dick his fury waxed against the woman who had enmeshed the boy in her plotting for vengeance on himself. And into his thoughts now crept a doubt, one that alarmed his sense of justice. A horrible suspicion that he had misjudged Mary Turner crept into his brain and would not out. He fought it with all the strength of him, and that was much, but ever it abode there.

Mary Was Utterly Wretched.

Mary Turner herself, too, was in a condition utterly wretched, and for the same cause—Dick Gilder. That source of the father's suffering was hers as well. She had won her ambition of years—revenge on the man who had sent her to prison. And now the joy of it was a torture, for the puppet of her plans, the son, had suddenly become the chief thing in her life.

She had taken it for granted that he would leave her after he came to know that her marriage to him was only a device to bring shame on his father. Instead he loved her. That fact seemed the secret of her distress. He loved her. More, he dared believe, and to assert boldly, that she loved him. Had he acted otherwise the matter would have been simple enough. But he loved her—loved her still, though he knew the shame that had clouded her life, knew the motive that had led her to accept him as a husband. More—by a sublime audacity he declared that she loved him.

There came a thrill in her heart each time she thought of that—that she loved him. The idea was monstrous, of course, and yet—Here, as always, she broke off, a hot flush blazing in her cheeks.

Mary Turner was just ready for bed when a note came by a messenger who waited for no answer, as he told the yawning maid. As Mary read the roughly scrawled message, she was caught in the grip of terror. The man who had saved her from death had yielded to temptation. As he had saved her so she must save him. She hurried into the gown she had just put off. Then she went to the telephone book and searched for the number of Gilder's house.

A few moments before Mary Turner received the note from the hands of the sleepy maid one of the leaves clearly, ticking out the message that the way was free for the thieves' coming.

For a final safeguard Garson searched for and found the telephone bell box and unscrewed the bells, which he placed on the desk. He then took his pistol from his hip pocket and thrust it into the right side pocket of his coat. Once again, now, he produced the electric torch and lighted it as he extinguished the lamp on the table.

He then went to the door into the hall, opened it and, leaving it ajar, made his way in silence to the outer doorway. The doors there were freed of their bolts, and one of them swung wide. So nicely had the affair been timed that hardly was the door open before the three men slipped in and stood mute and motionless in the hall while Garson refastened the doors. Then Garson walked quickly back to the library. Behind him, with steps as noiseless as his own, came the three men.

When all were gathered in the library Garson shut the hall door, touched the button in the wall beside it, and the chandelier threw its radiant light on the group.

Griggs was in evening clothes, seeming a very elegant young gentleman indeed, but his two companions were of grosser type as far as appearances went—one, Dacey, thin and wiry, with a ferret face; the other, Chicago Red, a brawny ruffian, whose stolid features nevertheless exhibited something of half sullen good nature.

"Everything all right so far," Garson said rapidly. He turned to Griggs and pointed toward the heavy hangings that shrouded the octagonal window. "Are those the things we want?" he demanded.

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months, especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, maybe weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Rushville Daily Republican.
